TECHNICAL SPECIFICATION

VAWG Advocacy Tokens (APP Item No. 2023 - 0060)

I. BACKGROUND

An issue that cuts beyond national boundaries and cultural barriers is violence against women and girls. The dispute has been present for numerous years and has had an enormous amount of impact on many lives in the Philippines, a country renowned for its lively culture and rich history. Violence against women and girls continues to be considered a serious concern despite proactive legislation and initiatives to address this ubiquitous problem.

The abuse of women and girls in the Philippines can be physical, sexual, emotional, or financial in nature. In 2017, a study by the Philippine Statistics Authority found that 1 in 4 (15–49) women had suffered physical, psychological, or sexual abuse from a partner or spouse. Furthermore, there are many instances of child abuse, with the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) reporting over 8,000 instances in 2019.

Identifying the root causes of violence against women and girls in the Philippines serves as vital for developing viable solutions. Gender inequality; poverty; lack of awareness; and weak law enforcement are among the factors that contribute to this widespread phenomenon.

- a. Gender Inequality: In Filipino society, conventional gender roles and preconceptions prevail, showcasing the belief that women are subservient to men. As a method of establishing authority, this worldview normalizes violence against women and girls.
- b. Poverty: Poverty and economic inequities often leave women and girls in vulnerable circumstances, increasing their vulnerability to violence. Victims who are financially reliant on their abusers may get trapped in abusive relationships.
- c. Lack of Awareness: Many victims are unaware of their choices for escape or support due to a lack of awareness and education about women's rights and available resources.
- d. Weak Law Enforcement: Regardless of laws signified to safeguard women and girls, their execution and enforcement remain fluctuating, if not ineffectual in some circumstances.

Despite hurdles, the Philippines has made progress in combating violence against women and girls. The Anti-Violence Against Women and their Children Act (VAWC); education and awareness campaigns such as the 18-Day Campaign to End Violence Against Women and Girls (VAWG); shelters and support services; and economic empowerment programs constitute some of the noteworthy efforts and developments.

- a. The Anti-Violence Against Women and their Children Act (VAWC): promulgated in 2004, this legislation penalizes violence against women and offers victims with legal assistance and social support services.
- b. Education and Awareness Campaigns: Non-governmental organizations and government agencies administer campaigns and seminars in educational institutions and neighborhoods to foster awareness about women's rights and domestic violence.
- c. Shelters and Support Services: The government and non-governmental organizations (NGOs) have collectively set up shelters and telephone hotlines to accord shelter and support to victims of violence.
- d. Economic Empowerment Programs: Projects aimed at offering skill training and financial support to women aim to help them become economically independent and less vulnerable to abuse.

While achievements have been accomplished, several challenges persist in the Philippines' battle against violence against women and girls. These disparities are caused by implementation gaps, cultural barriers, and economic concerns.

- a. Implementation Gaps: Effective execution of prevailing legislation and initiatives differs by location, exposing many women and girls lacking adequate protection or assistance.
- b. Cultural Barriers: Deep-rooted cultural attitudes and behaviors continue to stymie progress in eliminating gender-based violence.
- c. Economic Concerns: As a result of a lack of feasible choices, poverty and economic inequality continue to trap women in violent relationships.

Given these circumstances, violence against women and girls in the Philippines is still a serious issue that demands constant attention and collective action. Even though there are initiatives attained, several significant obstacles remain in resolving this deeply entrenched situation. Campaigns aimed at empowering women, raising awareness, and strengthening law enforcement are critical measures in the continuous battle against gender-based violence. Establishing gender equality and protecting the security and holistic well-being of all women and girls is an ethical obligation that the Philippines, like the rest of the world, must strive to fulfill.

As part of the development such as the conduct of education and awareness campaigns to combat the violence against women and children, the National Privacy

Commission through the Gender and Development (GAD) Focal Point System-Technical Working Group (FPS-TWG) shall conduct the 18-Day Campaign to End VAWG from 25 November to 12 December 2023 under the Philippine Commission on Women's (PCW) recurring campaign theme from CY 2022 to CY 2027 entitled "UNITEd for a VAW-free Philippines.

This banner aligns with the United Nations (UN) Women's "UNITE by 2030 to End Violence Against Women" project, a multi-year effort aimed at preventing and eliminating violence against women and girls throughout the world. The UNITE project, which was launched in 2008, promotes the global "16 Days of Activism Against Gender-Based Violence" campaign, which takes place every year from November 25 to December 10. By virtue of Republic Act 10398, November 25 has been established as the International Day to Eliminate VAW and the country's National Consciousness Day for the Elimination of VAWC, while December 10 is designated as International Human Rights Day.

II. OBJECTIVES

This campaign intends to accomplish the following objectives:

- a. Re-explore the amendments of the Anti-Violence Against Women and their Children Act of 2004 (RA 9262), the Anti-Rape Law (RA 8353 as amended by RA 11648), the Safe Spaces Act (RA 11313), Anti-Sexual Harassment Act of 1995 (RA 7877), Expanded Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act of 2022 (RA 9208 as amended by RA 11862);
- b. Deliver relevant information to the public on legislation safeguarding women and girls, especially RA 9262, RA 8353, RA 7877, and RA 9208;
- c. Aid in disseminating information about the status of VAW in the Philippines and the results of the 2022 National Demographic and Health Survey data on VAW; and
- d. Gather public support for the advocacy and solicit shared insights on their level of awareness and knowledge on VAW.
